

The Golden Table — Brand Guide 2026

Who we are

The Golden Table is a hosting and tablescape studio run by Maren Ellis in Charleston, South Carolina. We design dinner parties, bridal showers and holiday tables for women who love to host but are short on time. Our signature is the layered table: linen runners, brass candlesticks, garden roses and hand-lettered place cards.

Audience

Women aged 28 to 55 who host at home at least once a month. They save ideas on Instagram and TikTok, buy from Target, Anthropologie, HomeGoods and Etsy, and want a table that looks expensive for under 150 dollars. Many are planning a wedding, a baby shower or Thanksgiving for the first time.

Voice

Warm, confident, a little playful. We speak like a friend who has done this a hundred times. Short sentences. We never shame a messy kitchen. Favourite phrases: 'set the mood', 'layer it up', 'the table is the invitation'.

Content pillars

1. Tablescapes under 150 dollars. 2. Five-minute hosting hacks (napkin folds, candle safety, quick centrepieces). 3. Seasonal tables: fall harvest, Friendsgiving, Christmas Eve, Galentine's. 4. Behind the scenes of real events we style.

Offers and calls to action

Free download: the Holiday Table Checklist. Paid: the Tablescape Masterclass (97 dollars), in-person styling for events in Charleston from 450 dollars. Every post ends with one call to action: save this for your next dinner party, or grab the free checklist at the link in bio.

Brand partners we love

Linen and tableware brands, candle makers, florists, wine and sparkling water brands, and home decor retailers. We never promote alcohol to under-21 audiences and always label paid partnerships with #ad.

Things we never do

No fake reviews, no before-and-after shaming, no disposable plastic tableware, no political content. We do not name private clients without permission.

Colours and look

Ivory, champagne gold, sage green and deep burgundy. Natural light, overhead table shots, slow pans across the table, hands placing the final detail.
